The buss drivers of our town held their annual reunion and picnic last Monday. The boys hired a large automobile and took in the principal near-by cities, including Napa, Santa Rosa and Calistoga. As this was the first time they went by automobile on an outing they enjoyed it immensely, and all claim to have had the time of their lives. The boys were all at their posts Tuesday morning but their smiling faces were missed at the Southern Pacific depot Monday.

School For Apprentices

There has just been established by the Southern Pacific Company in its Oakland, California, yards a school for the education of apprentice machinists in the mechanical class. For more than a week the school has been in full operation under the supervision of a special instructor. It is similar to other institutions at different points along the Southern Pacific lines.

The tools are furnished free and the young men are made to feel absolutely at home, and are offered an opportunity to learn a trade in a thoroughly scientific manner.

A special building has been erected in the Oakland yards, fitted with desks and blackboards, and a library is maintained and operated in conjunction with the building in San Francisco. Arrangements have been made to give regular and systematic instruction to all apprentices. A similar building is located at Sparks Nevada, where evening classes are held under the direct supervision of one of the professors in the University of Nevada.

The plan is to give apprentices instruction as to the practices in the shops and in theory in the school room. The Southern Pacific Company is the only railroad corporation west of the Missouri river that makes such provisions for its apprentices.

GRAPE GROWERS AND WINEMAKERS

Have Organized to Oppose the Efforts of the Anti-Saloon League to Dry up the State.

Despite all statements to the contrary, Secretary H. F. Stoll, who will be present at the grape growers meeting to be held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in the basement of the court house this (Saturday) morning, at 10:30 o'clock, writes us that the new Grape Growers Association of California is working along absolutely independent lines and is not affiliated with any other interests. He says that the grape growers and wine makers of California have decided to oppose the efforts of the Anti-Saloon League to dry up the State, because they feel that the public should learn that while the law is ostensibly aimed at the saloon, in reality, it is going to do much to discredit and harm our wine industry. In every supervisory district that goes dry, every hotel, restaurant, cafe and club will be deprived of its table license, which means that it will be impossible for any guest to secure a bottle of wine with his meals.

In view of the efforts of the Anti-Saloon League thus to prevent the serving of our choice native wines to the millions of visitors who will flock to California during the next five years, the wineries look with extreme disfavor on the Wyllie Local Option law, and to protect themselves against further adverse legislation, they have formed an independent organization known as the Grape Growers Association of California.

The officers are E. M. Sheehan, of the Sacramento Valley Winery, chairman; Frank A. Busse, Napa and Sonoma Wine Company, treasurer, and H. F. Stoll, secretary. The executive committee consists of the above named gentlemen and L. R. Rogers, of Las Palmas Winery, Fresno; C. H. Wente, of Livermore, and Theodore Gier, of Oakland.

In order to secure a substantial campaign fund, half of which has already been guaranteed by the California Wine Association, Italian-Swiss Colony, C. Schilling & Co., Lachman & Jacob, Geo. West & Son, all the winemakers are being asked to contribute ten cents a ton on all the grapes they crush at the 1911 vintage; all grape growers five cents a ton on all the grapes they raise; and all wine dealers a sum fixed by the executive committee, in keeping with the volume of their business.

Secretary Stoll has been very successful in enlisting the co-operation of the wine makers and grape growers everywhere. Meetings have already been held in Los Angeles, St. Helena, San Jose, Concord, Lodi, Fresno, Elk Grove and Sacramento and after visiting Santa Rosa today, Mr. Stoll will have practically covered the principal viticultural sections of the State.

The meeting on Saturday, at which Senator L. W. Juilliard will preside, promises to be a very interesting one. Notable grape growers and wine makers from every section of the country have promised to be present and the indications are that, as usual, Sonoma county will cheerfully lend her aid to protect one of her most important industries.

THE MUNICIPAL SEWER SYSTEM.

Work is Progressing Rapidly
all Along the Line—Contractors Will Probably Turn Over System to City Next Month

The excavating machine of J. F. O'Brien & Co., who have the contract for putting in Sonoma's sewer system, for which the town was bonded for $20,000 last year, is making rapid progress. So far about three of the four miles of sewer has been completed and it is expected to complete the remaining mile this month.

Civil engineers who have personally inspected the work already done on the sewer say that when completed it will be one of the most up-to-date and thorough systems of sewerage in the State. Bids have been invited by the Board of City Trustees for the construction of a septic tank to be received up to September 25th, and it is expected to have the entire sewer system completed long before the winter rains set in.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when 'he condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a hollow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the body is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors

SPIRITUAL HEALING ABLY DISCUSSED.

Dr. D'Evelyn Talks Upon the Subject of Interrelation of Mind, Spirit and Matter.

Dr. Frederick W. D'Evelyn, in his lecture upon the "Interrelation of Mind, Spirit, and Matter," from a point of view of practical medicine, delivered before the Men's League on Sunday night of last week, certainly proved by many advanced authorities that the attitude of the medical profession was greatly modified, and that the subject was securing an attention which seems simply startling when contrasted with the credulity extended to it but a few years ago. Space will not permit a full report of the lecture. We shall quote some of the authorities and also some deductions therefrom.

Following the subject under consideration recent statements made by the President of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, are of special moment.

"It has always seemed to me that our profession has been disposed to take too narrow a view of spiritual healing. I am sure there is not the least reason or excuse for branding every person who assists in spiritual healing, whether as a patient or an intermediary, as a fool or a rogue."

Continuing, he adds: "I am prepared to go one step further and to suggest that every now and again a case of true organic disease may perhaps be cured by faith. I would base my argument on the knowledge that we have gained from cancer research. We have learned that certain mice are immune to cancer or spontaneously get well therefrom. These mice differ in some unknown manner from the chemical constitution of the blood, or the lymph, or the tissues of the body of those mice which are not immune and which do not spontaneously get well."

A deduction from this statement frankly permits that "cure" is obtainable provided that certain conditions or modifications are present. This being so it is reasonable to conclude, could we discover and control those conditions, that the matter of cure would be in our hands.

When Professor Butlin adds: "There are individuals who spontaneously get rid of tumors which are authenticated cancers," it must be conceded that such results must be due to some new powers of resistance or perhaps neutralization which did not previously exist. Such powers may be produced by states of mind, and if states of mind, why not that state of mental poise brought about in response to suggestion? Admitting the foregoing it is self-evident that "states of mind" are not to be overlooked amongst the protean factors of cancer.

An editorial in the British Medical Journal concludes: "There is evidence enough of the existence of natural forces working under unknown conditions but which can be utilized for the healing of disease. Whatever exorcises the demon of fear and brings the angel of Hope is a powerful aid to medical treatment. It is therefore as unscientific as it is inhuman to put aside faith healing as a mere superstition."

To the layman these sentences may not convey a very great meaning, but professional man, especially if he has presumed to think, perhaps in every secret along these lines, these statements are pregnant with great significance. We view them not as confessions of mere policy but accept them as admissions of new illuminants which see within their field of vision a something, shadowy and amorphous perception, but interrelated to functional entity that they claim acknowledgment if not acceptance. All this is not alone helpful but it is hopeful. It is as if we stood amidst the memories and viewed with quickened spirit the Land of Promise, an arena of possession and possibility, into which our successors if not we, shall enter and overcome.

A living body is evidently a combination of body and something else. A living body has selective power. Selective power is life.

Even the layman today understands when we speak of the tissues, the nerves, the blood, etc. These tissues are made up of cells. We find further the makeup of these cells is practically the same element, the cell essence varying only in chemical proportion, these variations being responsible for the different functions of the cells. It is as perfect in fact as it is in science to speak of lung cells, brain cells, or nerve cells. The vitality of the tissue, and accordingly its functional activity, is directly dependent upon the condition of the cells which go to make up that tissue. This theory being accepted the cell is admittedly an entity of no mean character. The integrity—that is, the personality of the cell—is every thing.

In this unitary conception there is the conclusion that mind is everywhere. Mind is in the cell.

Some years ago, from personal investigation in the laboratory with different types of cells from the simplest form of life where the animal itself or the vegetable was just a cell and nothing more up to a more highly organized nerve and brain tissue, it was found that these entities displayed towards different agencies selective instincts, such selections as could alone be secured by a mental or intelligent counterpart of the individual cell. The significance of this fact from the psychological point of view can not be overestimated. It does not, in fact, alter the relationship to simply ascribe it to an affinity, a chemical or a biological reaction.

If our knowledge ever permits us control of the cell mentality of any tissue, then we are in a position to modify the function of that tissue. A common illustration will add force to this conclusion. It is well known that a not uncommon occurrence of indisposition of varying gravity follows on the part of the nursing infant when the mother has been subjected to strong excitement, pleasurable or otherwise. Or, again, the craving for alcohol is simply a reflex, a brain clamor, from the tissue cells due to their dehydration.

Things created must concede a creator as originator of their being. Man is simply a manifestation of a creative potency that claims itself a reality. Every deed of man is the resultant of some power, an innate activity. Its expression is caused by this power reacting to a stimulus or command which we term will. The will is the creative expression and as such is related with the primal creative power. Man claims through his possession of the virtues of the worlds of matter and of the Kingdom attributes of spiritual and physical character. The spiritual admits of subdivision. When the spiritual quality demonstrates both in entity and in function the attribute resultant is Mind as distinguished from Soul. On the other hand, when the entity is spiritual and the function material the resultant attribute is the soul. This soul is the essence upon which the physical body is dependent. The individuality as well as the life of the body are due to the individual soul. The body is simply a vehicle for its manifestation. The soul governs the physical functions of the body, in as much as in the case of that body no organ or member acts without the will of the supreme power of the soul as expressed through the central nervous system.

A modification of this medium modifies the life of the body. That medium we can modify. Therefore the life of the body is within our powers of influence or change. Upon this fact hangs all the law and the prophets concerning the interrelations of Mind, Soul, and matter.

"Easy Jim" Tells in an Interesting Way all About the Week's Happenings in and About
His Section of the Valley.

Miss Adele Andrieux spent Admission Day in Santa Rosa.

Arthur Batto conveyed a party of relatives to Napa in his automobile Sunday, where they visited friends. The party consisted of John Batto, Mrs. Arthur Batto, Miss Mary Batto and baby Evelyn.

Miss Mary Batto arrived home from the metropolis last Friday and took in the Native Sons celebration in Santa Rosa the following day. At present she is a guest of her parents here.

Mrs. Rose Rector and sister, Miss Teresa Mayers, returned to their home in the metropolis, one day this week, after a pleasant visit of several days at the old Vineburg homestead.

Mr. Robbins, the chef of Vineyard Villa, met with a painful accident Sunday morning. A carving knife he was using slipped, cutting his left hand badly. Dr. Fred'k Leix of Sonoma dressed the wounded member.

Although Saturday was the 9th of September and Admission Day and a great many of our people were celebrating the event in Santa Rosa and other places still there were enough of them left to keep our burg in a pleasant mood and to enable the stay-at-homes to enjoy the day.

As winter time will soon be with us, or, as some people say, it has been with us right along, we observe that some of our society belles are returning to their homes here. That there will now be something doing in society circles on Villa avenue, Starlight way, Eighth and Denmark streets and Goo-Goo avenue goes without the saying. Look out, "Tights,"—1912 leap year.

While A. F. Nelson, one of our most highly esteemed citizens, was feeding a young horse Saturday he met with a serious accident.

The animal, which was tied near a barbed-wire fence, became frightened and in an effort to subdue the animal Mr. Nelson came in contact with the strands of barbed wire and his arms and chest were badly torn and mutilated. Dr. W. B. Hays was summoned by phone from Sonoma and dressed the injured man's wounds, being assisted by E. Forni and Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Atheman. At latest accounts Mr. Nelson was getting along nicely.

Vineburg, Sept. 12, 1911.

"Easy Jim"—I suppose you have come to the conclusion that I had forgotten my promise to assist you in culling items for the Index-Tribune in this part of the valley, but there's just where you made a mistake. I was waiting for the glorious Ninth of September. Sure, I went to Santa Rosa and of course saw Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, and all the other parlors of our Native Sons from various parts of the State and they looked fine and were a credit to California. But wait till I tell you about it.

Michael Cummings, Mayor of Sonoma, was Marshal of Sonoma Parlor and the way he handled his command proved he was as much at home handling a marshal's baton as he is conducting the affairs of a municipality. The Sonoma natives looked fine and as they marched past I heard many words of praise for the boys in white and gold suits from the Bear Flag city. Philip Bill Jr. was the bearer of Sonoma Parlor's banner and in my opinion Philip could carry any of our country's banners to victory. I think it looked real nice to see Sonoma and Vineburg marching shoulder to shoulder. There was Jas. Modini of Sonoma and Edward Mitchell of Vineburg marching side by side like "Love's young dream." That's all this week, "Easy." Very respectfully, Fannie Ferndale.

Vineburg, Sept. 14, 1911.

SONOMA AT NATIVE SONS CELEBRATION

Does Herself Proud With Her
Parlor of Native Sons, Fine
Brass Band, and Speedy Horses.

Sonoma did herself proud at the Native Sons celebration in Santa Rosa on Admission Day. She turned out en masse and did more than her share towards making the celebration in the Rose City a success. Sonoma contributed one of the finest parlors and uniformed brass bands to be seen in the parade and on the line of march its swell girls, fascinating widows and comely matrons put the balance of femininity in the shade.

On the race track, too, Sonoma came to the fore with the fastest trotting and pacing horses, winning two out of the three events. In the free for all pace the pride of Sonoma, Mike C, owned by Mayor M. E. Cummings, and driven by Joe Ryan, won three of the four heats, the time being 2:15, 2:14 and 2:13. In the mixed race, Rooney Dillon, owned by Tom Millerick, and with Joe Ryan holding the ribbons, came off victorious in three straight heats. Time 2:21, 2:25 and 2:23.

Early on the morning of Admission Day the exodus to Santa Rosa had commenced and by 9 o'clock Sonoma had the appearance of a deserted village.

In Santa Rosa, however, her people were every where in evidence—in the parade, on the line of march, in the lobbies of the hotels, in the eating houses and in procession of automobiles that wended their way to and from the celebration on Saturday and Sunday. It is estimated that 20,000 people were attracted to Santa Rosa to witness the grand fiesta of the Native Sons, and of this number Sonoma contributed by far more than its quota. It is now up to our sister town to return the compliment when it comes to the fore with its next celebration or its driving meet.

MEASURES ALTITUDES.

The Use of the Barograph on Aeroplanes and Balloons.

What the compass is to the mariner the barograph is to the aviator. The barograph is an instrument for measuring altitudes. The pressure of the air as it increases or decreases causes a delicate needle to trace a wavy line upon a cylinder which revolves by clockwork. This line indicates not only the exact height that is reached by the aviator, but also the speed at which he is traveling.

The barograph is kept in a weather proof box with a glass front, which is attached to a bar of the aeroplane or to a rope on the balloon. It is officially sealed before the aviator embarks, so there is no possibility of tampering with it, and the seal is taken off in the presence of witnesses at the end of the flight. In this way it is possible to establish absolutely and graphically the altitude which an aviator attains in his aeroplane or balloon. It is necessary for the aviator to watch the barograph constantly, as it indicates a change in the elevation almost to the foot. The sky pilot has to keep his eye on the indicator much as the man at the wheel of the seagoing ship watches his compass. Should the aeroplane or the balloon rise or fall ten or twenty feet the aviator would not be conscious of it unless he looked at the wavering needle tracing its permanent record on a chart before him. This tells him immediately of any changes in the nature of the air currents and gives him timely warning of aerial dangers.

These instruments are so delicate and so accurate, it is said, that a man might hang one of them about his neck in its glass case or carry it in his hand and climb a flight of stairs, the height of his ascent being graphically indicated by the inked needle on the machine.—New York Press.

A CAREFUL MAN.

His Indecision in the Matter of Employing a Doctor.

The parsimony of the old New Englander of the type now almost vanished was nobly exemplified in Mr. Benny Huntington, who lived with his maid in a little town in western Massachusetts. Neither had ever spent a penny unnecessarily and when in his old age Mr. Benny became crippled with "the rheumatiz" and had, as well, strange flutterings of the heart, which were unrelieved by the best recommended "yarb teas," they were greatly shocked at the suggestions and warned that they ought to send for a doctor. Mr. Benny refused, declared his scorn of the entire medical profession and continued to save his pennies.

But the pain grew worse. Mr. Benny was confined to his bed in great agony and overheard some of the neighbors telling his sister that he was going to die. Then he sent for an old schoolmate, a man as "careful" as himself.

"Josiah," he asked, in a low, confidential tone, "have you ever had a doctor?"

Josiah shook his head. "Dunno as I have," he answered.

Mr. Benny reached out and laid a trembling hand upon his old friend's arm. "Josiah," he asked again, "did you ever hear how much one of them doctors charges for a visit?"

Josiah looked at his suffering friend with pitying sympathy. "Well," he said, breaking it as gently as he could—"well, I have heard, Benny, that they charge as much as $2 a visit!"

"Two dollars!" Mr. Benny repeated. "Two dollars!" Then he sank back on his pillow and sighed in a voice of strangely mingled relief, regret and resignation. "Well, I dunno but I'd rather spend $5 than die!"—Youth's Companion.

The Licorice Plant.

The licorice plant resembles a rose with a single green stem, reaches a height of about three feet and bears a small purple star shaped flower. The first year's root growth resembles a loosely twisted string of tow and may run to twenty feet in length. The second year it assumes a woody substance when dry, and the third year it acquires its commercial value. The time for digging the root is the winter, when it is dried and crushed under heavy stones drawn round on it by mules, much as olives are crushed to extract their oil.

Queer Kaffir Custom.

Kaffir women will not pronounce their husband's names or even use words which contain the emphatic syllable of those names. One old woman, being taught to say the Lord's prayer, changed the word from "come" in "Thy kingdom come" to something that made nonsense, and it proved that the proper "come" word was the main syllable of her husband's name.

Proving His Contentment.

"Jones is an optimist, even in the most discouraging circumstances, isn't he?"

"Why, no. His mother-in-law is slightly indisposed, and he thinks there's no hope for her recovery."

"Well, what did I tell you?"—Cleveland Leader.

Chess in Ancient Ceylon.

In ancient Ceylon the game of chess was played with local variations peculiar enough to note. The king may not castle, but he is permitted to jump like a knight till checked. The pawns are exchangeable on the last row for the pieces on whose row they stand.

Though the world may owe every man a living, only the persistent collector gets it.
